Queen's Platinum Jubilee Celebrations in Charlton Kings

Brilliant work has been done by the Charlton Kings Jubilee Crafts group and the village has been bedecked with bunting and garlands and even a crown post box topper which looks fabulous.

Charlton Kings Infants and Juniors PTAs are running a pool party and picnic. It's free entry into the picnic and though the pool sessions are now sold out there is still fun to be had with the garden games and jubilee themed fancy dress competition!

There are events happening all over Cheltenham on the Platinum Jubilee Bank Holiday weekend and we would be delighted to see photos of your community celebrations. If you've got any that you'd be happy for us to put on our website or social media email them to community@charltonkingsparishcouncil.gov.uk with Platinum Jubilee Photos in the subject.

CK Futures - We are Nature Campaign

We launched our first climate related campaign on “Food Waste” in January with a focus on bite sized tips to help people make easy and sustainable changes. Though we realise the work of reducing food waste never ends, we have now moved on to the second of our three campaigns and are delighted to have launched “We are Nature” last month with an excellent CK Futures talk on family friendly activities from Jenn Haigh, owner of Hoots Owl Forest School and the Cotswold Forager, Rob Gould.

There are now two new Podcasts available on the Losing our Cool website, both from local, nature focussed, business owners. We have the Chatty Gardener, Mandy Bradshaw telling us all about pesticides, ponds, pollinators and Mindy Pickering from Badger Wood Adventures Forest School talking about how reconnecting with nature is positive for us and the climate.

CK Futures - A conversation with Tom Whipple - Wednesday 8th June

Tom Whipple, Science Editor of The Times and Patricia Thornley, Fellow of The Royal Academy of Engineering will be joining us for special talk exploring the science of climate change, some of the solutions available to us, and how Government, business, communities and individuals can play their part in tackling climate change.

This free talk is on Weds 8th June at the Community Hub at FRONT, Sixways, Charlton Kings. Doors will open at 7.30pm with refreshments available and an opportunity to meet up with other local residents.

CK Futures - Sustainable Living Workshop on Consumerism - Wednesday 6th July

We have been running a series of workshops for the last few months and our final workshop is on Consumerism and how we can make choices to benefit our pockets and the environment. This workshop will feed into our third campaign, Conscious Consumerism which will start in October.

Whether you are simply interested in the workshop, or whether you would be interested in volunteering some time with us to craft our third campaign, please come along and say hello.
